

November was a very eventful month! We had our school festival and chorus contest on November 6th and we had our 3rd exams. The students practiced very hard for the chorus contest, and I was very moved when I heard them sing. Congratulations to all the classes who got the gold prize, and congratulations to 3-4 for winning the Grand Prix! Good luck at the next competition!

For the third exam, I did a speaking test with the special needs class. I was so happy because they were able to do the speaking test with very little mistakes. It's so nice seeing their English improve over time. I hope they will continue to work hard.

The weather is getting colder very quickly, so I hope everyone will be careful and not catch a cold in the winter. There's only a few more weeks until winter vacation, so let's do our best!
