

November

The leaves are changing and the weather is getting colder. In junior high school that means that it is time for the annual culture festival! Leading up to the event, everyone in Koka was working very diligently to make the event a memorable one. Everyday once classes were finished, the halls were filled with the sounds of chorus practice. Once school was finished for the day, students could be seen hard at work perfecting their group performances for the talent show. Everything was shaping up nicely for a wonderful event.

Koka's students did not disappoint. From beginning to end, the culture festival was a success. The hard work that was put into the event was apparent. In all of the performances, you could see how much the students value teamwork and dedication to their chosen talent. It is always a treat to see the talent portion of the festival. Every year students who are usually timid and shy put their fears aside to come out of their shells and show their peers and family their talent.
